

FIELD KIT

PRODUCT GUIDE

Field Kit is a home and travel goods brand founded in 2015 by Jemma Rethman. Born out of humble beginnings in a basement studio in Halifax, it all started with the desire to create a uniquely scented, minimally packaged, natural candle. What seemed like a simple, everyday object became so much more. Field Kit candles are part of a daily ritual: creating scent-memory and bringing little moments of joy. Since the start, Field Kit has been focused on sustainable design and high quality materials and has applied this to all new product development. Field Kit's purpose is to reimagine everyday objects so that they strike a balance between being thoughtful and practical, minimal and impactful in design.

While the core of Field Kit remains its line of natural soy candles, Jemma revels in experimentation and creativity. As Field Kit evolves it becomes even more of a reflection of who she is, what she loves and cares about. Jemma has come to realize the importance of the "modern heirloom" that unifies design and functionality, and stands the test of time. Field Kit believes that beauty and utility can be found in everyday objects and that this combination is found when goods are crafted simply and with purpose.
